

Life in a shale village
Worksheet 4

If you were alive when the shale oil industry was in action, your house would be very different from how it is now. What you had would depend on your job and where your house was. Imagine you lived in 1885. Draw birds eye view of the inside of your house showing what rooms you would have and what you would have in each room. If there are things you would have outside you can put them outside the house on the picture. Remember to label and explain. You can also draw the outside of your house.

Use a blank sheet of paper to draw your picture.

Here is an example of a birds eye view.
